

Governor Thornburgh and Pope John Paul II greeting each other at airport in Philadelphia, October 3, 1979 (00:37)

>> Hopefully, the quality's gonna be half decent.

>> Okay.

>> I think it's pretty good.

>> Okay, go.

>> Coming your way in 3, 2, 1...

>> Thornburgh: This land in Pennsylvania was designed as a refuge for those who sought religious freedom and toleration. Your presence here today renews the spirit of our founder, William Penn. On behalf of 12 million Pennsylvanians, with our love, affection, and esteem, we welcome you.

>> Pope: Thank you very much. God bless Pennsylvania.
